

RULES & REGULATIONS

FIR-PRI Finance and Sustainability European Research Award 2016 11th edition

Foreword

In 2005, FIR Award was launched to foster academic research on subjects in Finance and Sustainability. By building bridges between the academic and finance communities and their stakeholders, FIR Award aimed to promote practically relevant academic research and encourages broader disciplinary development of responsible investment scholarship.

Starting in 2011, FIR partners with PRI to advance a joint programme to meet these goals. Aspects of this partnership are the development of an international resource database and coordination between the annual PRI Academic Conference and FIR Award Presentation.

Article 1: Aim of the Award

"FIR-PRI Finance and Sustainability European Research Award" grants:

Awards to research produced in each of the following categories:

- Master's Thesis (master's degree, graduate school of management, graduate school of engineering),
- PhD Thesis,
- Academic Published Articles,
- Academic Case Studies / MOOCs (Massive Online Open Courses).

A research grant for PhD projects in the areas of Financial instruments, Social issues or SRI products marketing

Research projects will be evaluated and selected at the European level.

Article 2: Eligibility of Research Projects

Submissions will be accepted from citizens of European countries (including those studying abroad), as well as from non-European students enrolled at European Universities or "Grandes Ecoles" or if Europe is the research field.

To be eligible for the awards, research projects must cover at least one topic related to Finance and Sustainability (i.e. Socially Responsible Investment, Micro Finance, etc.).

Depending on the award, the projects must have been completed as part of a University master's degree thesis, a graduate thesis for a "Grande Ecole" (credited by the appropriate Ministry), a PhD thesis, have first been implemented into an academic program during the specified period of time or have been published in an academic review with a proper reading committee.

To be eligible for the research grants, research projects must contribute at least partially to "social issues", "financial instruments" or "SRI products marketing" areas of the Finance and Sustainability topic. Projects must be backed and supervised by a University or "Grande Ecole" professor. These projects may be part of University master's degree thesis, a PhD thesis, an academic program or to be published in an academic review with a proper reading committee.

Research projects should be written in French or English.

Candidates may apply individually or as part of a team.

To be eligible for the awards, projects will have to be submitted according to the conditions stated under Article 5.

Article 3: Confidentiality

At the time of application, research projects will have to be completed and/or published or publishable. The jury will not be able to evaluate research works bound by permanent and strict confidentiality. The public nature of the research document is therefore essential for it to be allowed to compete for the "FIR-PRI Finance and Sustainability European Research Award".

Temporary confidentiality measures will be taken throughout the evaluation and selection process up until the award ceremony. During this period, the research projects will not be shared with anyone outside the selection committee and jury members. Those on the committee promise not to disclose any information until the award ceremony.

After publication of the results and the award ceremony, the confidentiality clause will be lifted.

The candidates who apply to the "FIR-PRI Finance and Sustainability European Research Award" must be willing to provide the summaries of their competing research projects on a free and non-exclusive basis (see Article 5 below). This is mainly to allow them to be included in a database set up by the French SIF, and to allow a possible publication of the above-mentioned summaries, free of charge, and in any format that the award organisation team deems appropriate.

Article 4: Application Procedure

Candidates must complete an application online at <http://www.fir-pri-awards.org>

Any questions can be sent at contact@fir-pri-awards.org

Research projects that have already been submitted for the 2015 award may not be submitted again.

Applications will enter into consideration upon reception of the complete application file.

Applications may be sent from January 15th, 2016 and will enter into consideration upon reception of the complete application file no later than April 15th, 2015.

Grants candidates are eligible for both European (FIR-PRI) and Global awards and must provide the following items:

- Summary of research topic
- The project's contribution to today's existing literature on this topic
- Expected methodology and data: interviews, data base, etc
- Work schedule
- Present financial support and goal of the FIR-PRI grant funds

The quality and size of summaries are extremely important since they are essentially what the jury uses in order to select nominees.

Article 6: Allowances

The award winners will be rewarded by allowances provided by "FIR-PRI Finance and Sustainability European Research Award" business partners.

Four prizes can be awarded for:

- Best Master's Thesis
- Best PhD Thesis
- Best Published Article
- Best Academic Case Study / MOOC (Massive Online Open Course)

Each individual or team award winner will be rewarded by a €5,000 allowance. In addition to the financial reward, award-winning research could also be published.

The PhD Research grants will be rewarded by a €10,000 allowance: €4000 in 2016, €3000 in 2017 and €3000 in 2018. At each step the awardee will provide a state of his work to the Jury President, who will validate fund release.

Each allowance will be delivered to an individual. For team projects, the jury will decide upon the allowance allocation between team members.

The jury reserves the right not to distribute some or all of the allowance if they believe none of the submitted research projects deserve it.

Article 7: Selection Committee and Jury

A selection committee composed of academics, corporate sponsor representatives, French SIF Board members and PRI will be in charge of the short-listing process.

The jury will be composed of theory specialists (university or graduate school teachers, etc.) and experts (business partners) in the field of Finance and Sustainability. A member of the selection committee and the jury may not apply (or co-apply) to any of the awards or grants. Special attention will be paid to the diversity of the jury to make sure it includes a wide range of knowledge and expertise.

The selection committee and the jury have agreed not to disclose any information regarding the research projects that have been submitted until the awards ceremony.

The selection committee and the jury members have been granted full decision power in the winners' selection. Their decisions cannot be opposed. Neither will they need to be justified.

Article 8: Research Selection Criteria

The selection committee and jury members will pay special attention to the following items:

- Quality of research work and contribution to the topic of finance and sustainability
- Originality of subject study or approach
- Academic evaluation of research work
- Research work interest according to investors', corporates' and/or stakeholders' point of view

Article 9: Research Work Restitution

Research projects and additional documents submitted to the French SIF and PRI as part of an award application cannot be mailed back to the candidates. The French SIF will keep a copy of all the research projects for their archives.

Article 10: Agreement to Rules and Regulations

The submission of an application for the "FIR-PRI Finance and Sustainability European Research Award" implies that the applicants fully agree with the hereby rules & regulations.

Article 11: Access to Rules & Regulations

Rules & regulations of the award can be viewed on the French SIF web site at the following address: <http://www.fir-pri-awards.org>

Article 12: Circumstances Outside One's Control and Cancellation

Under circumstances outside of one's control, the award organisers reserve the right to cancel or postpone the award ceremony.

Article 13: Right of Publicity
